

Save the unicorn race, don't turn it into a disgrace!

How would it feel knowing that when you buy this disturbingly terrible product that you are contributing to the loss of such amazing animals and soon when the unicorn race is extinct you will know that you helped in this disgusting act of terribleness?

This would also affect many people such as young children. When they realise their favourite animals are being chopped up and sent away to be eaten they will be devastated which will cause problems everywhere around the globe. Unicorns also have powers that nothing and no one else have such as shooting rainbows out of their beautiful spiral horns, and flying higher than anything else. (That is only a few of their amazing powers) and someday doctors or scientists might need to use the unicorns powers to save someone or help people out of disasters but there won't be any unicorns left.

You can definitely see why it is vital that unicorns stay and are not slaughtered just for the flavour and taste. Next time your go shopping and go to pick up a can of unicorn meat I hope you think about it more and put it back down on the shelf. Ban the can!
