

To the Honourable Niall Blair,

Imagine... A world full of trees, flowers and many more animals. You may be thinking, I don't need to imagine that, it's our world already. But in reality it may soon be gone, all because of you not putting three words on Australian labels 'Contains Palm Oil'.

By putting 'Contains Palm Oil' on Australian labels, us as Australians will be able to know whether we want to buy products with Palm Oil in them, so we then know whether we want to contribute to habitat loss of tigers, elephants and orangatans.

In the last 10 years, orangatans population has decreased by 50 percent as the result of habitat loss, a long side with 300 football field of forest are cleared every HOUR to make room for palm oil plantations.

I hope I have convinced you to put 'Contains Palm Oil' on Australian labels.

Yours sincerely,
Amie
