

To the Honourable Niall Blair,

How would you feel if your home was destroyed for a stupid oil used in food? Like really, we could eat other food that doesn't require palm oil and we'd be fine. So either you label palm oil, or remove it from food altogether.

Also, cutting down trees worsens climate change, as when they are cut in half, they release the gases already stored in them. It also means that there's less trees to absorb the carbon dioxide and methane from the atmosphere.

Also, did you know that due to deforestation, around 137 species of animals are becoming extinct PER DAY. Some of these species include but are not limited to, the Hawaiian Crow, and the Greater Short-Tailed Bat. So many unique sub species of animals, dying.

So if we stop palm oil production, we may lose a lot of our favourite foods, but at least we will be saving animals.

Kind regards,

Dexter
